In his village, Zebu and his family are forever in debt to a local merchant, where they must constantly give over a large portion of their daily catch. Although still a young man, it is Zebu who leads the way, setting up the family business on new and better terms? Then, when the village is threatened and must stand up to the newcomers, it is the Warrior Queen who will stand up for their rights (based on a true story)! Lastly, a young lady's journey to England and her return to Nigerian home gives her strength she didn't realize she had. "African Immersion" reflects the wisdom of these characters as they draw on the strength gained from their heritage.

$6 per student, chaperones free!
