

Hollywood and the Art of Puppetry

Do you like movies with creepy creature special effects? Meet Hollywood puppetry & special effects master Greg Aronowitz (The Lost World: Jurassic Park; Labou) and go behind the scenes of Hollywood puppetry and animatronics.

Using examples from his 'Best of Fest' Award-winning film Labou, director Greg Aronowitz and producer Sheri Bryant share the magic of creature creation by bringing a puppet character to life. This hands-on workshop will give 30 lucky kids the chance to see puppetry and animatronics in action, then ask questions and create their own Labou puppet!

Hollywood and the Art of Puppetry

Wednesday, May 20

5:30pm-7:30pm

At Facets - 1517 W. Fullerton Ave., Chicago.

(one block east of Ashland on Fullerton)

For kids ages 6-10

Fee: $25 per child

Hollywood and the Art of Puppetry is FREE for:

- 2009 YCC participants
- Facets Future Filmmaker members
- Facets Patron Circle members

To Reserve Your Place, Contact:

773-281-9075 ext. 3037 or kidsfest@facets.org

Please include:

- The name of the child
- Your telephone &/or e-mail address
- Whether you are a YCC participant or an FFF or Patron Circle member

For more information on the film Labou, please visit: www.labouthemovie.com.

I look forward to hearing from you!

Kathleen Beckman, Operations Manager
Chicago International Children's Film Festival

