Themes: Civil Rights, courage, family, communities, prejudice, rural and urban daily life

Explore African and African American lives in this profound and entertaining shorts program, which provides insight into the lives of others. In "Nelson Mandela" (animated short film, narrated by Forest Whitaker) the leader never lost sight of his vision, and with enormous courage changed the world. Rosa Parks was an inspiration to the cause for social justice. Revisit her bold act of American civil disobedience when this brave woman stood up for her beliefs. In "Miss Devine", the award-winning animated documentary from StoryCorps, characters reflect on their Sundays in the South, with remembrances of their beloved teacher. In "Angelina's Film", follow along in the footsteps of daily Sudanese rural life, when a girl and her friends band together to search for a lost animal. Join the characters in these short films and view new worlds – through their eyes.

$6 per student – chaperones free!
